PRESS RELEASE BY THE OFFICE OF THE SPEAKER

The Speaker of the House of Representatives Anġlu Farrugia receives the new Thai Ambassador Sathana Kashemsanta Na Ayudhya

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, Anġlu Farrugia, welcomed the new Ambassador of Thailand to Malta, Sathana Kashemsanta Na Ayudhya, for a cordial meeting at the Parliament in Valletta today. The two officials discussed a range of topics focused on strengthening the bilateral relations between Malta and Thailand, as well as exploring opportunities for greater cooperation in various sectors.

During the meeting, Speaker Farrugia and Ambassador Kashemsanta exchanged views on the importance of fostering ties between the two nations, particularly in areas related to education, culture, and international cooperation. Both emphasized the value of deepening mutual understanding and collaboration across these domains, highlighting the significant role these sectors play in promoting lasting relationships between countries. Regarding education, both officials acknowledged the potential for enhanced academic exchanges and collaborative initiatives between universities and institutions in both countries. They discussed the prospects of creating more opportunities for students and educators to engage in cross-cultural learning, fostering a broader understanding of each nation's unique cultural and historical heritage.

In terms of cultural cooperation, Speaker Anġlu Farrugia and Ambassador Kashemsanta shared their enthusiasm for exploring ways to further promote cultural exchanges, including the potential for joint events, exhibitions, and initiatives to celebrate the rich traditions of both Malta and Thailand.

The meeting also touched upon a range of international matters, with both parties emphasizing the importance of dialogue and collaboration on global issues, including those related to sustainable development, climate change, and international security.

The meeting concluded with a shared commitment to fostering stronger bilateral ties and working together to address the global challenges of the future.
